FEATURES & USES

Our modular units and containers are made from high-grade durable materials including steel, meaning every unit is extremely versatile and built to last.

Each unit consists of a floor, roof frames, corner profiles and walls, with many units benefitting from additional fixtures and fittings including windows, doors, and more.

The unique construction methods we use also enable each modular unit to be stacked and joined together, enabling scalable spaces to be created much quicker than traditionally constructed buildings.

All of our modular and portable accommodation is also assembled at our factory before being delivered, resulting in minimal time spent on site for delivery and a reduction in downtime for your project. The light insulated panels used in each unit also create a pleasant climate all year round.
